

SEB GOWER

Location: Auckland

Seb Gower, an artist with a unique vision, is on a mission to infuse vitality into our lives and forge connections through his evocative artworks. Hailing from the serene rural landscapes of Te Awamutu in New Zealand, Seb's journey is a testament to his determination and creative spirit.

Born and raised amidst the legacy of hardworking farmers, Seb chose a divergent path that led him to embrace the world of art. Supported by his father's aviation career and guided by the wisdom of his brilliant mother, he embarked on a transformative journey that would shape his destiny.

Transitioning from generations of agricultural tradition, Seb embarked on a quest to explore emotions, connections, and the power of the canvas. This shift was met with wholehearted endorsement from his parents, who recognized his artistic fervor.

Educational pursuits carried Seb to Massey University in Wellington, where he pursued a Fine Arts degree. His academic journey later led him to complete a degree in Philosophy and Art History at the University of Otago.

During this journey, Seb stumbled upon an authentic, raw sentiment that resonated within him. He embraced modern impressionism, casting aside predefined purpose for the sake of heartfelt expression. This unbridled commitment to the creative process allowed him to forge genuine connections with his audience.

Through his art, Seb aspires to offer an invitation to a shared journey. His live sessions, videos, and writings endeavor to satisfy a global yearning for authenticity and honesty. His artworks have evolved into collaborative ventures, where the aspirations of his audience merge seamlessly with his distinct style. Each brushstroke embodies shared expressions, creating a tapestry of connection.

Seb's vision transcends mere followers; it embraces participants in an immersive experience. Limited prints ensure that each piece retains its authenticity and rarity, transforming into cherished moments shared by a wider audience.
